CONCERN MANIFESTED BY JAPANESE PRESS OVER AMERICAN SUPPLIES NOW BEING SENT TO VLADIVOSTOCK

Asama Maru Case Recalled By Deputy Spokesman

LEGALLY SPEAKING, THE SOYA AND TSUGARU STRAITS ARE OPEN SEA, BUT THE QUESTION OF SENDING WAR MATERIALS TO RUSSIA THROUGH THOSE STRAITS COULD NOT BE DISCUSSED FROM ONLY THE LEGAL VIEWPOINT BECAUSE IT WAS "A MATTER OF FEELING," declared MR. KOH ISHII, deputy spokesman of the Information Board, at the Press conference in Tokyo yesterday, says Reuter.

Recalling the case of the ASAMA MARU, N.Y.K. liner, which was stopped by a British cruiser at sea off Tokyo Bay on Jan. 21, 1940, the spokesman said the case had aroused national feelings.

The present question also was a matter of sentiment, he added. HE STATED THE MATTER WOULD BE DIFFERENT IF WAR MATERIALS WERE SENT TO RUSSIA, VIA THE INDIAN OCEAN.

Asked if Japan would object to American aid to Russia if it was not sent by a route so close to Japan, the spokesman said he did not wish to comment.

The concern manifested by the Press over American supplies being sent to Vladivostock represented the viewpoint of the majority of the Japanese people, he added.

To the question whether the Japanese Government had obtained a guarantee that American bombers would not be kept at Vladivostock, the spokesman answered, "I don't know, nor can I say anything now."

AMBIGUOUS LINE

At the Press conference, Mr. Ishii revealed that following the amicable delimitation of the three kilometre border area at Nomonhan between Manchukuo and Outer Mongolia, which was officially announced on Aug. 20, clarification of an ambiguous border line between Manchukuo and the Soviet Union was being discussed. He added: "Whether the same border demarcation commission will take charge of the matter or whether a new one will be appointed for the purpose must be seen. Mutual concession and conciliation are responsible for a successful conclusion of the border demarcation. "The meeting of the plenipotentiaries of Manchukuo and Outer Mongolia in Harbin on Aug. 22 are intended for the exchange of the documents."

MR. SHIGEMITSU

Asked if Mr. Mamoru Shigemitsu, Ambassador in London, who recently arrived in Tokyo, will return to London, Mr. Ishii replied, "I don't know."

With regard to Mr. Kaname Wakasugi, Diplomatic adviser to Admiral Nomura, the spokesman revealed that he had sailed from San Francisco for Tokyo on a Japanese freighter.

U.S. WAR MATERIAL FOR RUSSIA

LONDON, Aug. 22 (Reuter)—It is reported that RUSSIA has placed orders for war material in the UNITED STATES to the extent of $200,000,000.

Ten per cent. of the orders will be delivered within the next few weeks.

All Soviet requests for oil have been complied with and fighter planes have already reached Russia.

TRIBUTE PAID TO RUSSIAN MORALE

LONDON, Aug. 22 (BWS)—Some details of the recent visit of the Chief of the British Military Mission to the German-Soviet front have been officially given here.

Lt.-General Mason-Macfarlane, who went to the Smolensk sector where he saw a Soviet Division carry out a successful attack, reports that he was much impressed by the high morale and efficiency of the Red Army troops engaged.

Co-operation between the Air Force and the Army was extremely good and General Mason-Macfarlane states that the battlefield was cleared quickly and methodically of casualties and material and within 24 hours of the attack, most of the German dead had already been buried.

SINGAPORE, Aug. 22 (Reuter)—Rear-Admiral E. F. Spomer has arrived to take up his appointment as Rear-Admiral of Malaya and in charge of naval establishments in Singapore succeeding Rear-Admiral T. B. Drew.

CURTAIN-RAISER TO BROADCAST BY PREMIER TOMORROW: BATTLE OF TRUTH LOST BY DR. GOEBBELS

Two Standpoints From Which To Judge What Churchill Will Say

"No easy hope or loss shall bring us to our goal

But ardent sacrifice of body, will and soul.

There is but one path for all, one life for each to give.

What stands if freedom falls? Who dies if England lives?"

Quoting these lines from Kipling, MR. H. WICKHAM STEED, the eminent author-journalist, had some interesting things to say in his weekly broadcast from London yesterday, about a recent article written by Dr. Goebbels which indicated the situation inside Germany, and also what he thought Mr. Winston Churchill would have to say when he broadcasts to the Empire tomorrow (Sunday).

Mr. Steed began his talk by referring to the practice of former theatrical managers to put on a sort of light play before the main feature as a sort of a curtain-raiser.

MR. WICKHAM STEED

The cinema-going public was treated to a form of silly symphony before the big film was shown in present times. He, therefore, was going to provide a curtain-raiser before Mr. Churchill broadcasts to the Empire on Sunday the story of his meeting with President Roosevelt somewhere on the Atlantic.

"WHAT HE WILL SAY I HAVE NO IDEA," said Mr. Steed, "BUT THAT IT WILL BE HIGHLY IMPORTANT I AM SURE."

There are two standpoints from which to judge what Mr. Churchill will say. The first will be on the British and Allied war effort and the kind of peace that will have to be made when the enemy is beaten. The second is the effect on the enemy and particularly the German people of what was agreed upon.

"We shall be able to look at the first standpoint only after Mr. Churchill has spoken but we can look at the second standpoint in the light of what Dr. Goebbels has said this week."

VILLAINOUS ROLE

Mr. Steed said that Dr. Goebbels reminded him of a character in Dickens, which played a villainous role and had sworn an affidavit to tell the truth but had only spoken lies. Dr. Goebbels had the effrontery, in a recent newspaper article this week, to say that from the outbreak of war he had given strict orders to the German Press and radio to stick to the strict truth and nothing but the truth. And then he had gone on to say that he had imposed "the death penalty for anyone who listened to the B.B.C. broadcasts from London which, he said, would envenom the German soul."

"And then came the truth when Dr. Goebbels said that if the German people lost faith in their Fuehrer they would lose the war."

"This is a curious utterance indeed," continued Mr. Steed. "It was already dangerous for the Germans to listen to broadcasts from London and now the death

Details Of Atrocities Perpetrated By Nazis On The Soviet Citizens Revealed By Pravda

"BLOOD FOR BLOOD; DEATH FOR DEATH" is the title of an editorial in PRAVDA, organ of the Communist Party quoted by the Moscow Radio yesterday, says Reuter.

The article, which gives details of atrocities perpetrated by the Nazis on Soviet citizens, says: "No words can express the intensity of the feeling or the wrath of indignation which prevails in the hearts of Soviet men and women on hearing news of atrocities carried out by German hordes on their bloody way."

"INTENSE HATRED, WHICH KNOWS NO PITY AND WHICH KNOWS NO MERCY, IS THE ONLY RULE OF FIGHTING AGAINST BIPED ANIMALS WHICH CONSTITUTE THE GERMAN AND FASCIST ARMIES."

"Wherever its armies pass, they leave behind them a morbid trail of murder and robbery. Hitler dogs have covered with shame not only the German Army but also all the German people."

TURKISH ENVOY, HITLER MEETING ROUSES INTEREST IN ANKARA

THE TURKISH AMBASSADOR IN BERLIN recently saw KERR HITLER at the latter's field headquarters, according to reports in Ankara.

It evoked considerable interest in view of factors in the background, says Reuter.

These are:— FIRSTLY, German troop movements south of Bulgaria which are the first signs of German activity there since the signature of the Turkish-German Pact. SECONDLY, broad military hints given by the Shah to Iran cadets. THIRDLY, the realisation of the German High Command that the Russian campaign will take longer than expected as shown by huge German purchases of skins in unoccupied Europe.

The troop movements in Bulgaria might be used as pressure on Turkey should Hitler decide to ask for passage of troops and goods across Turkey, and there is some speculation whether the strong terms of the Shah, which were presumably intended for Anglo-Soviet consumption, were not inspired by German promises. THE ONLY ROUTE Should the Russian resistance collapse, Hitler will be able to rubri troops to the Iran frontier, but it

"To redeem its shame and to restore to itself a place in the family of peoples, the German nation must clear itself of Hitler vermin. Every hour brings news of crimes carried out by Fascists on Soviet soil."

The article goes on to give details of almost unspeakable horrors carried out by the Nazis in search for military information, citing such instances as men, women and children soaked in petrol in a village square and burned alive and a nine-year-old boy shot in front of his mother who then

Responsible circles deny that Turkey has advised Iran to accept the Anglo-Soviet notes, or Turkey used the good offices of Britain and the Soviet Union.

DEFENCE OF LENINGRAD WITHIN ITS WALLS IS RECKONED BY RUSSIANS

"With the spectre of winter before them it is not to be wondered at that the Germans are making a super-human effort to gain something decisive," commented MAJOR ALLEN MURRAY, when he broadcast from London last night.

Major Murray dealt with the three sectors, the extreme north and south and the Gomel region which was midway between Smolensk and Kiev.

The position, briefly, was as follows:—

In the north, the Germans' main advance was to Leningrad, which apart from being the second city of Russia, was a great engineering centre. Marshal Voroshilov's call to the people to form home brigades and to defend street by street and house by house to the last, showed that the Marshal was reckoning with the possibility that Leningrad may have to be defended from within its walls.

It was said that, with the possible exception of Singapore, Leningrad was the strongest defended city in the world.

Further south, the German attack on Gomel may be directed north-east towards Moscow, or south-east to get behind Kiev to the great industrial area of the Ukraine.

In the Ukraine the situation was not clearer than it was on Thursday. We did know, however, that the German armies on the west bank of the Dnieper were on a pretty broad front.

Much depended on the capacity of Marshal Budenny's army to prevent the Germans crossing the Dnieper to the east bank.

We had practical proof, concluded Maj. Murray, of the great sacrifices the Russians were making to stem the advance of the invaders. Russia's cause was the Allied cause.

Halifax Back In England

LONDON, Aug. 22 (Reuter)—Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to Washington, arrived by air at a British airport this morning.

Arrangements were made some time ago for him to return to London for conversations with Mr. Churchill, the Prime Minister.

His stay in England will be about a month and during that time he will attend meetings of the War Cabinet, of which he is still a member.

Stamping Out Nazism

Commenting on President Roosevelt's outspoken views on his meeting with Mr. Churchill, MAJOR ALLEN MURRAY, in a broadcast from London last night, said:

"In this, we at war, and America, not at war, are of one mind and we rely on the American people to leave no stone unturned to give the democracies everything they need for final victory and to make the stamping out of Nazism a permanent reality."

Australia Political Deadlock

MELBOURNE, Aug. 22 (Reuter)—Mr. R. G. Menzies, the Australian Prime Minister, in a letter to Mr. J. Curtin, the Labour leader, suggested that, in order to break the present political deadlock, an all-party Government should be formed.

He was prepared to remain in office as Prime Minister or serve in another capacity under a new leader.

The Labour Party has not yet commented on Mr. Menzies' proposal.

Attractive Programme For Baseball Fans

PORTUGAL TO MEET U.S. IN BIG MATCH OF WEEK-END

BY "R.O.Y."

Baseball fans will be well looked after this week-end when the most attractive programme of the season is to be staged at the Chatham Road ballpark. The big match of the International Series will go on at 3 p.m. today with Portugal and the United States of America, last year's finalists in this same competition, contesting the right of entry into the final round.

A promising double-header is scheduled to tomorrow, China meeting Britain at 10.30 a.m., in the other International semi-final after which the United States Navy clash with the Hongkong All-Stars in the second leg of the Charity Cup Series.

Ballians will remember that the Portuguese lads upset the "Ashes" combination in last year's tournament to take the Mamak Shield. On that occasion, the Mindanao boys were away from the Colony, so were not included in the American team that lost the final game although they had represented their country with distinction in the preliminary rounds. Since then, they have looked forward to avenging their compatriots' defeat so they'll go into the game with plenty of incentive.

"Ski" Pawlowski will lead the squad which will include Tony MacAvoy, Hank Ruel, Bowersox, Moore, Willie Wilson, Doc Molten, Chuck Waggoner, R. M. Wilson, MacKenzie and Kennard.

A V. Gosano has charge of the Portuguese aggregation which will line up Gerry Gosano, Mike Mendonca, Nick Beltrac, Zinho Gomes, Tony Alves, George Souza, Bertie Gosano, Eddie Gosano, Caco Marques, Charlie Figueredo, Al Ayres, Harry Campos and Bob Laurel. The latter squad have not had much practice this season and, although there is no denying their great potentialities, it is unlikely that they'll take the honours from the Yanks whose battery of "Ski" Pawlowski and Tony Mascavage is probably the best in the Colony at the present time.

Umpires for this game will be "Granpop" Leung, Al Lau and Nip Lum.

BRITAIN-CHINA CLASH

Welfie Welford, mentor of Britain's squad, has kept his line-up under wraps, but it can be taken that the Leonard boys will probably form the backbone of his team. If this is so, the British squad should give the Chinese a great battle for honours although "Granpop" Leung will have such polished performers to pick from as Wally Ching, Nip Luh, Y. T. Chan, Bill Chang, Morocco Chan, Al Lau, Willie Woo, Mack Wong, "Looney" Loong, P. F. Choy, Richard Chung, Cecil Wing Lee, Nelson Ma and Hal Wing Lee.

Arbiters for this clash will be "Ski" Pawlowski, Tony Mascavage and Chuck Waggoner.

The Navy took the series last year with a team that was made up at various times by players from the Ashville, Tulsa and Mindanao. This year, the Mindanao boys have to carry the load all by themselves and are all set to do a good job of it. They outlit the locals in the opening game but weak defence cost them the game and the same weakness may well cost them the second leg as the All-Stars have as well-balanced a combination as can be fielded.

"Doc" Molten, Welfie Welford and Bob Foley will make the decisions for this game in which the line-ups will be much the same as those that appeared in their previous meeting.

LA SALLE FAVOURED TO ANNEX SCHOOLS' GALA AT V.R.C. POOL TODAY

BY "JIN"

With such stalwart swimmers as Tony Lopes and Jack Gomes included in the team, La Salle College are generally conceded to have the best chances of winning the swimming gala for school boys and school girls which is to be held this evening at the Victoria Recreation Club pool.

Stiff opposition will come from St. Stephen's College and judging from the school's performers at the heats an upset is quite probable.

St. Stephen's College will depend mainly upon Wm. Teo, Boone Stong-loy and Ng Shu-hoo to carry them through. Wm. Teo will start hot favourite for the senior 100 yards and in spite of stiff opposition by J. Gomes of La Salle, Teo is expected to win to give St. Stephen's a lead early. Donald Young and Andrew Fong both of St. Joseph's will contest every inch of the bath for third place.

The senior 100 yards breast-stroke will probably be won by Kwong Chu-sheng of La Salle with Chan Koon-tsan of St. Joseph's a close second while the minor place will probably go to Lee Cheuk-lam of Nam Wah.

SENIOR BACK STROKE

A. V. Lopes of La Salle will not be extended by the other swimmers in the senior 100 yards back-stroke. Gomes of La Salle will probably add further points to La Salle in this event. The third place will be at a "toss" between Andrew Fong of St. Joseph's and Boone Stong-loy of St. Stephen's. St. Stephen's are expected to figure very prominently in the junior 50 yards for boys. The result of this race is expected to be as follows: 1. K. Tonges; 2. Wong Peng-ku; 3. Chan Yen-fee. They are all from St. Stephen's though W. Ribeiro of La Salle may cause an upset.

GIRLS' EVENTS

In the events for girls which will be competed by these three schools, St. Mary's, French Convent and Belliss, French Convent is expected to capture all the honours of the day with the Yoke sisters and Jackie Anderson.

St. Mary's will depend entirely upon C. Gutierrez, the V.R.C. star.

WEEKLY DRIPPINGS

Most swimming fans have been wondering why V.R.C. galas have all been scheduled to start seven minutes after the hour. The reason, we were told, is purely a new publicity stunt by marking a time which is out of the ordinary that will serve to keep the event more vividly in the minds of the local public.

Tsui Hang, who has been so much in the limelight recently, was a former goalkeeper of the Eastern Athletic Association. Retiring from soccer two years ago, he took up swimming and it was not until this season that he showed such remarkable progress. Indeed, one would mark him down as a certainty for the 100 yards free-style in the forthcoming Colony Championships.

Another swimmer that is very much in the news is Miss E. Mulling of the Lai Tsun Swimming Union. Representing her club in the return gala with V.R.C. she did very well to beat Miss J. Anderson (V.R.C.) but lost by a touch to Miss V. Churn, Lady Champion, in the 50 yards free-style event.

"V" CAMPAIGN TAKING HOLD IN COLONY

The "V" campaign in Hongkong has been slowly, but surely, gaining momentum as evidenced by the increasing amount of "V" signs seen in the Colony.

Dolly Varden, the well-known Ladies' Salon in Chater Road, was among the first to display this symbol of Victory. Other leading establishments which have this "V" sign conspicuously displayed in their show-windows are The Caravan, of Gloucester Building, Messrs. Lane, Crawford, Ltd., Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co. Ltd., The Daily Farm, Colonial Dispensary, Messrs. Tyob's and Messrs. Bennett Freres.

FIRE-WATCHERS FOR COLONY

MORE INSTRUCTORS ARE NEEDED

There are now eight fully-qualified fire-fighting instructors who will train the new A.R.P. Fire-Watchers' organisation. A further 12 men are receiving training as instructors.

It is learned that the instructors have gone through a very arduous training course, being required, among other exercises, to tackle a fire in a closed room where a lot of gear had been set alight.

A.R.P. FILMS

Eight reels of cinematograph films have been received by local A.R.P. Headquarters and will be screened at the Pel Ho and Star Theatres, Kowloon, on Sunday, at 9 a.m. and 11.30 a.m. respectively.

Four of the reels show first aid work, two are devoted to rescue and demolition work, and another two to fire-fighting. Chinese captions have been put on. Tickets will be made available at the various A.R.P. centres.

MELODRAMA A LA KAY KYSER

Mystery to the crash of cymbals, spooks to the boom-boom of drums, murder to the tootle of trumpets! That's melodrama a la Kay Kyser, his band and the College of Musical Knowledge.

"That's 'You'll Find Out,' showing tomorrow at the Majestic Theatre, and the title is a threat, a promise and an answer.

The picture stars with Kay Kyser, finishing a College of Musical Knowledge broadcast, but the story starts when the band accepts an invitation to entertain at Helen Parrish's debutante party. It is held in the ancestral Bellacrest home, a gloomy old mansion surrounded by a moat and filled throughout with queer archaeological collection.

Helen's sweetheart is Dennis O'Keefe, the band's manager, and her aunt is Alma Kruger, whose interest in spiritualism has put her in the power of Bela Lugosi as a fake-medium, Peter Lorre as a bogus psychologist and Boris Karloff as the family advisor whose "advice" is designed to dump the great Bellacrest fortune into their laps instead of the heroine's.

Besides the splendid screen artists already mentioned, "You'll Find Out" also features Kyser's own stars—Ginny Simms, sweet singer and sweet gal; Harry Babbitt, the Kabbler; and Gully Mason. They not only contribute their solo

Imperial War Cabinet Idea Opposed By Mackenzie King

LONDON, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — Mr. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, saw Lord Cranborne, Secretary of State for the Dominions at the Dominions Office yesterday afternoon. He also called on Mr. Angus Macdonald, Canadian Minister of Defence at his hotel.

A large gathering of journalists presided over by Mr. Brendan Bracken, Minister of Information, met the visiting Premier at the Ministry of Information when he was questioned on his views about an Imperial War Council.

Mr. King said he thought they had the most perfect, and continuous conference of cabinets that any group of nations could possibly have.

It was essential to have an effective means of communication between different parts. "I have been in office many years and I say without hesitation that I can not conceive a more effective means of communication than now exists," he added.

As head of the Government in Canada he received communications direct from Mr. Churchill and was also able to communicate with him. In addition communications came almost hourly from the Dominions Office giving a complete picture of what was taking place. Moreover the British High Commissioner in Canada received other communications which he was able to impart personally to the Prime Minister or other Ministers of Canada.

COLLECTIVE OPINION

At all times but particularly in times of great emergency important decisions should be made not by one man but by the government as a whole. Under the present arrangements if a communication was addressed by the United Kingdom Government to the Government of Canada, the Canadian Minister was able to give expression to the collective opinion of the Cabinet representing Parliament and the people of Canada.

"It might seem" went on Mr. Mackenzie King, "that some Imperial Cabinet sitting in London would be more effective in making decisions. But what is expressed today through the Cabinets of Dominions is infinitely more effective in reaching quick and true decisions than other arrangements could possibly be."

"I was present at the War Committee of the British Cabinet today I would not be in a position on my own initiative to say without consultation with my colleagues in Ottawa and through them with their armed services colleagues just what was the opinion which could be given to the Government. That would mean calling to the other side and getting word back before I could communicate."

"It is very much easier to give the Cabinet an opinion by being able to discuss it with my colleagues in all its phases and thus represent it to the Government here as a collective opinion."

CLOSE RELATIONS.

Mr. Mackenzie King said that there had never been a time when relations had been closer than they were today, nor when they had less in the way of differences between them. There had never been a single point of difference on any essential matter since the beginning of the war between the Canadian and United Kingdom Governments.

In the last war differences arose continuously between the Governments and between the military and civil authorities. In this war there has not been any difference between the military and civil authorities or between the governments themselves.

The reason for that was that before any important step had been taken, the Dominions had been consulted and had been able to express their view and the general consensus of opinion had been reached as a result.

RANEE OF SARAWAK

SINGAPORE, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — Lady Brooke, Rane of Sarawak, arrived yesterday by Clipper. She is on her way to Sarawak after an absence of nearly two years, during which she has earned her own living in the United States.

PRES. ROOSEVELT REPORTS TO CONGRESS ON HISTORIC MEETING WITH CHURCHILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — President Roosevelt, in a message to Congress reporting on his epoch-making meeting at sea with Mr. Churchill, said that the declaration of principles agreed upon there was so clear-cut that it would be difficult to oppose "without automatically admitting willingness to compromise."

These principles, the President added in his brief special message, also would be hard to oppose without admitting willingness "to agree to a world peace which would give to Nazism domination over large numbers of conquered nations."

"Inevitably," adds the President, "such a peace would be a gift to Nazism to take breath—an armed breath—for a second war to extend its control over Europe and Asia to the American Hemisphere itself."

White House officials say that President Roosevelt's message to Congress was suggested by Democratic Congressional leaders who conferred with the President on August 18 regarding the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting.

President Roosevelt's reference to Canadian ships is believed to be the first official announcement that Canadian ships were present at the scene of the conference.

NATIONAL POLICY
By informing Congress officially of his talks with Mr. Churchill, President Roosevelt has followed the practice he established in the case of his telling the legislators of the American ship Robin Hood, action taken and the policy pursued.

As on the previous occasion, his message calls for no action but it will undoubtedly be approved by Congress. After that, the first points will be the national policy rather than just the administrative policy.

RUSSIANS BLOW UP AN UNFINISHED BATTLESHIP, CRUISER BEFORE THEY QUIT FROM NIKOLAIEV

THAILAND'S POLICY OF NEUTRALITY REITERATED

BANGKOK, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — British and Japanese assurances to Thailand, her own determination to try her best to adhere to the strictest neutrality and her preparedness to die for freedom were three guarantees of Thai's security, said Luang Vichit Vathakarn, Deputy Foreign Minister, in a broadcast yesterday. Later the speech was translated into English, French, German, Italian and Japanese.

After reiterating the Thai policy announced on July 28 and August 9, Luang Vichit Vathakarn said that Thailand must thank the British and Japanese for the assurances given by their spokesmen, including Mr. Anthony Eden and Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham.

He concluded that the Thais were ready to sacrifice everything in case of unprovoked aggression on whichever side.

JAPANESE CANARD

SINGAPORE, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — Arrivals from the Thai border have remarked on the curious reversal of Japanese propaganda in Thailand which, till recently, was consistently belittling British strength in Malaya and Burma. However, the Tokyo radio on Wednesday stated that 220,000 troops were standing at the British frontiers from Singapore to Burma.

Despite the most emphatic and clearest denials from Bangkok and Singapore, the Japanese continue their attempts to vitiate the Thai atmosphere again and have put out "reports" that Thailand has received demands for bases from Britain.

Convalescent Home For Officers

SINGAPORE, Aug. 22 (Central) — Interviewed yesterday, Mr. John Roxburgh, Hon. Treasurer of the Australian Red Cross, said that the society had not received any request for further assistance from any Chinese organisations. He said that any more calls from this quarter would naturally be considered but added that resources had been drained by heavy demands from the Middle East and Malaya.

Mr. Roxburgh is here to inquire into the possible erection of convalescent homes for officers, nurses and other ranks of British and Australian troops in Malaya.

MOSCOW, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — M. Lozovsky, Deputy Chief of the Information Bureau, denying German claims that they have captured an unfinished Russian battleship and other vessels at Nikolaiev, said that the facts were that the unfinished and unengined battleship and a cruiser on the stocks were blown up by the Russians together with the shipyard.

German officers in Russia, writes Reuter's Special correspondent, have received instructions from Berlin to tell the troops that the severity of the Russian winter is grossly exaggerated and that all the men need to withstand the rigours of winter is thick clothing plus valhaks (Russian felt boots), which are to be taken from the peasants.

These instructions, which I learn from an authoritative source, show that Hitler realises that a winter campaign is inevitable and that his men are nervous about the winter.

Russian planes raided Berlin last night, causing fires, says Moscow Radio.

It is also stated that all Russian planes returned safely.

FOREGONE CONCLUSION

LONDON, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — The Germans yesterday claimed the capture of Narva, Novgorod and, Kherson, states a military commentary by Annalist. The Russian communique speaks only of stubborn fighting at Odessa, Gomej and Novgorod.

The loss of Kherson was a foregone conclusion with the Germans overrunning the lower reaches of the west bank of the Dnieper. It is a considerable commercial port but could not be defended by improvised forces, especially as it is on the wrong side of the river.

On the other hand, the forces left behind in Odessa are fighting desperately and so far with success. It should prove a difficult nut to crack, especially as the Germans will probably attempt its reduction with the aid of Rumanian troops.

On the rest of the Ukrainian front, the situation has not altered materially and the passage of the Dnieper has not been forced. It will take some time for the German High Command to get together a sufficient striking force and all the paraphernalia required for an operation of this magnitude.

PRESSURE ON LENINGRAD

Besides, there are indications that the main attack has been switched back to the north once again with Leningrad for the objective. This offensive is now in full swing but is not likely to be as prolonged as the first two although it will be intensive while it lasts.

The Russians have still room to employ the cushion tactics that have proved so successful up to now, enabling them to absorb shock attacks without undue loss to themselves while exacting costly payment from the enemy.

They are, however, getting very near the region where they will be fighting with their backs to the wall in defence of the great industrial belt of Leningrad. Then they will not be able to yield any further; but it will remain to be seen whether the German blows will not have lost much of their weight.

NEW THRUST

A new German thrust is also developing in the central sector of Gomej between Smolensk and Kiev. It has met with local success but it is not yet clear whether the Germans will continue to drive eastwards towards Moscow or south-eastwards so as to menace the rear of Kiev.

The numbers engaged in these gigantic battles are so immense that it is obvious that even the Germans cannot put their maximum weight into all fronts at once. But this sector is undoubtedly one to which they attach the most importance as it is directed against Moscow, and it is probable that they will make a desperate effort to effect that breach which has so far defied all their efforts.

Canadians Put Through Secret Training

LONDON, Aug. 22 (RWS) — Several thousand troops of the 1st Canadian division were recently put through a strenuous week of secret training in coast assault tactics in preparation for the time when a British offensive strikes back at the Nazis in Europe.

A brigade group included infantry, engineers, artillery, machine-gun, medical and signal units.

It slipped quietly away from its southern England camp area and travelled by train and boat to a special training territory.

The Canadians, aided by British Army and Navy officers, learned the tricky technique of assault landings on beaches and within a few days were effecting rapid landings in full battle kit.

The deepest secrecy surrounded the unexpected drill in Weymouth.

FRIENDS OF NATIONAL LIBRARIES

LONDON, Aug. 22 (RWS) — The annual report of the Friends of National Libraries gives a list of libraries which have already been destroyed or badly damaged by enemy action.

Included in the list is the British Museum Library where sections of law, archaeology, fine art, etc., and sets of philological and bibliographical periodicals were largely destroyed. Goldsmith College where about 12,000 books were destroyed. Guilds Library, King's College London Library, Inner Temple Library and the public libraries of Liverpool, Plymouth and Richmond.

Birkbeck College Library has been almost completely destroyed as have many thousands of books in the National Central Library.

CGST OF LIVING IN SYRIA

Trade With Country Now Sanctioned

CAIRO, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — The Board of Trade regulation, issued on Wednesday permitting trade with Syria, is expected to help bring down the cost of living there.

One of the reasons for the present high costs in Syria is the fact that the Vichy regime left Syria short of essential supplies. The British and Free French authorities have now arranged for 5,000 tons of wheat to be delivered to Damascus at the rate of 150 tons a day.

The currency will remain stabilised at 8.83 which obviates the necessity for a black Bourse.

TRANSPORT QUESTIONS

ANKARA, Aug. 22 (Reuter) — Mr. Horwill, the United Kingdom Commercial Corporation representative in Baghdad, has arrived to discuss transport questions with the United Kingdom Corporation here.

During the past year, the Corporation has bought in Turkish pounds, £22,000,000 worth of goods from Turkey, including £7,800,000 worth of raisins, £3,000,000 worth of olive and £3,300,000 worth of mohair.

At the same time, the Corporation by placing huge orders in America and the British Empire supplied Turkey with much-needed goods. Goods valued at £580,000 have been delivered to Turkish traders while orders amounting to nearly £1,000,000 are under construction or en route.

Over 25,000 tons of goods are now in Egypt en route to Turkey and since Syria came into British hands, delivery has been speeded up.

effort to effect that breach which has so far defied all their efforts.

CHINESE "BLITZKRIEG" PUBLICATIONS

Sedition Alleged By Crown At Central Magistracy

Further hearing of the case in which Chin Hui-yan, 26, acting manager of the Star Publishing Co., No. 175 Queen's Road Central, and C. N. Lau alias Lau Siu-nin, manager of the Tai Shing Printing Press, Room No. 406, Holland House, charged with having in their possession, a seditious publication, to wit, 500 copies each of a publication called "Lun Sim Kit Chin" (Blitzkrieg) without lawful excuse at their respective premises on June 26, was fixed by Mr. G. T. Lowry yesterday at the Central Magistracy for Aug. 26.

Second defendant was additionally charged with having printed a seditious publication, to wit, 1,000 copies of a publication called "Lun Sim Kit Chin" (Blitzkrieg) without lawful excuse at Nos. 114-118, Tung Lo Wan Road.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Crown Counsel, prosecuting, referred to an extract from page 58 of the said publication, the translation of which is as follows:

Meantime Britain and France actively engaged themselves in dragging the small and weak neutral nations of Europe into the war. They attempted to form a ring to encircle Germany, making these small nations "pick up the nuts from the fire" for them, thus to weaken Germany. The British and French rulers did not true heartedly have concern for the fate of these small nations. Nor were they able to give them sufficient help after they were involved in the war.

After the outbreak of hostilities Chamberlain continued to pursue as he did in the past, the policy beneficial to himself at the expense of others always hoping that other people would act as his hunting dogs while he himself acting as a shop master sitting at home reaping the profits yielded by the war.

"That is a statement which I say is seditious" contended Mr. Williams.

ANOTHER EXTRACT

Counsel also referred to another extract from page 59 of the same publication, the statement of which he also said was seditious and read as follows: The political machinery of both Britain and France, like their special imperialistic quality, is weaker and more rotten than that of Germany, because they are the imperialists whose pockets are full of booty.

Sgt. R. Ellis, of the Special Branch, gave evidence that about 2.50 p.m. on June 26, he went to No. 175 Queen's Road, Central, ground floor, and made a search with a warrant, executed under the Seditious Publication Ordinance. ## CURATIVE PEACE

THE ELUCIDATION of the recent Eight-Point Declaration which an American foreign correspondent sought to offer in a recent broadcast from London, even if it did not entirely succeed in doing so, at least provided an effective answer to those who still demur at talking of peace before the war is over. The speaker made his point quite clear when he declared that if it was necessary to prepare for war in time of peace, it was no less desirable to prepare for peace in time of war. The sort of peace which the Eight-Point Declaration aims at was aptly described as "a curative peace" and the difference between the kind of peace that Herr Hitler's New Order envisaged was stressed when evidence was adduced to show that it would be merely a punitive peace in which the countries which were subjugated to Totalitarian domination would be kept in permanent bondage to satisfy the insatiable appetite for power of their ruthless conquerors.

THE QUESTION that will, of course, arise is on the manner and method by which this curative peace is to be enforced. The Churchill-Roosevelt declaration, as it was explained by the American commentator, provides for respecting the wishes of all nations—in other words, self-determination by popular election or plebiscite. This brings in the necessity of creating a new association of nations strong enough and showing complete understanding of the principles which must be observed in putting the Eight-Point Declaration into real effect. This new association of nations should not be permitted to rise out of the ashes of the now nearly defunct League of Nations. Though the lessons learned from the weaknesses which were apparent in the Geneva body should prove useful in evading the pitfalls which it contained during its unfortunately unsuccessful existence. This was primarily due to the fact that international collaboration after the last war was too limited in its scope and, therefore, the League had to narrow down its policy.

ANY NEW League of Nations which must be formed to make this curative peace permanent should not be used to provide a screen behind which political interests can take shelter. In a way, this is provided for in the Churchill-Roosevelt declaration in the clauses which stress the importance of equal economic and sovereign rights for all nations, but what is vitally necessary is that any such new body should remember that the world envisaged in this Anglo-American statement must not offer loopholes through which the "have" or "have not" nations could prejudice its policy. It is here, perhaps, that the Eight-Point Declaration appears idealistic, since it seeks to eliminate racial superiority and the fantastic lebensraum and encirclement crises which pre-

3.55 a.m. Arms Raid In Lantau Island Village:
Man, Woman Committed

A further sequel to the Police raid, led by Mr. L. A. Searle, A.S.P. (K), and Sgt. J. Allen, on Sha Lo Wan village, Lantau Island, in the early hours of Aug. 3, during which a large quantity of arms and ammunition were seized and several persons arrested, was the appearance before Mr. S. F. Balfour, at the District Office, South, yesterday of CHENG MUN-PING, male, and CHAN SUI-FONG, female, on the charge of unlawful possession of arms and ammunition.

According to the prosecution conducted by Sgt. J. Allen, the raid was carried out at 3.55 a.m. on Aug. 3 when a party of Police, led by Mr. Searle, went to the village.

Going down the side of a hill, the party saw an unnumbered house with a light showing. While the Police were heading for the house, three men came out and disappeared into the darkness.

On coming to the house, they saw two men inside while a woman was standing in the rear of the building. A rifle was lying on a table near the men, while on the ground, under the table, was found a fully-loaded revolver.

While there, Sgt. Allen was left in charge of the arms and prisoners while Mr. Searle, and the rest of the Police party, went to other houses. One of the prisoners brought Sgt. Galvin and Mr. Searle to an unnumbered house where a mauser pistol was found.

In that house was also found a woman, Lal Wai-fong (who was committed for trial by the same Magistrate on Thursday).

ACCUSED'S EVIDENCE

First defendant reserved his defence, but second accused elected to give evidence on her own behalf.

Chan said that she was a prostitute living in Tai O, and that on the day in question she went to Sha Lo Wan village, between 2 and 3 p.m., to purchase eggs. Owing to the weather she was unable to return to Tai O that evening, although it was her original intention to do so.

She entered an opium den about 6 p.m., and, after smoking two pipes, fell off to sleep. She denied all knowledge of the arms and ammunitions.

Cross-examined, she admitted that she went to Sha Lo Wan village with Lal Wai-fong.

Both defendants were committed for trial.

CIVILIAN
EXERCISE

An exercise will be carried out tomorrow in connexion with the civilian medical defence of the Colony.

All first aid posts will be manned. Doctors, St. John Ambulance Brigade personnel, members of the A.R.P. Medical Auxiliary of the Brigade, nurses from the Auxiliary Nursing Service, ambulance and lorry personnel, post communication officers and medical liaison officers responsible for communications will all take part in the exercise.

It is hoped that all the personnel named will turn out in full force to ensure that the exercise is successful.

All the officers and personnel named are expected to be on duty at the post assigned to them at 8.30 a.m. prompt. The morning's exercise will end at 12.30 p.m. The exercise will continue in the afternoon and all personnel are required to report at 2 p.m. prompt at their posts. The day's work will terminate at 5 p.m.

The morning will be devoted to the collection, transport and treatment of casualties, and lectures and practical demonstrations on special types of first aid treatment, surgical emergencies, resuscitation, and so on will be given in the afternoon sessions.

capitated the present world upheaval.

WHEN the present state of the world is viewed in all the horror and barbarity which the Totalitarian system has imposed on it, it seems hard to believe that this curative peace will be able to attain to such high ideals. An Allied victory will be the first step to its realisation, but after that how far will the nations which stand on the victorious side agree on these ideals?

Daily one hears of affirmations being made by those countries which have joined in the fight for freedom that their peace aims will coincide with the principles enunciated by Britain and the United States as the leading democracies. These affirmations have largely been given because each and every one of them cherish the four freedoms, but these affirmations will have to be much stronger and international collaboration much more complete if the curative peace is to accomplish the idealistic state propounded by Britain and the United States.

CORRESPONDENCE

CRUEL FORM OF AMUSEMENT

The Editor, H.K. Daily Press
Sir,—It has been brought to my notice that a member of the public brought to a place of amusement in the Colony a live pigeon, which was let loose and the guests were invited to catch it, the person catching it being given a prize. Immediately the matter was brought to the notice of the management, the Manager took steps to prevent its recurrence.

I am instructed by my Committee to point out that amusements of this nature are cruel, and to ask members of the public to co-operate with the Society in trying to prevent similar so-called forms of amusement and to say that the Society will be most grateful to anybody who will let us know either of any proposal for so-called entertainment of this nature or of similar incidents.

Yours faithfully,
W. REES-HARRIES,
Secretary.

AIR WAR IN MIDDLE EAST:
GERMANS PLAN NEW MOVE:
ALLIES USE AIR TRANSPORT

"The Germans and Italians have been trying very hard lately to get reinforcements for their troops in North Africa. They have been trying very hard to get across the stretch of water between Sicily and the mainland," said MAJOR OLIVER STEWART, M.C., A.F.C., the well-known aviation expert, when he broadcast from London yesterday on German moves and plans in the Middle East.

"Hardly anything gets across without being knocked about by the R.A.F.," continued Major Stewart, "but as the Axis always does things on a lavish scale, a good deal of stuff does get over. So we must expect a winter campaign here."

MOVE IN NORTH AFRICA

"The Axis is certainly planning a move in North Africa towards the Suez Canal. I have always maintained that a good guide to the future air operations. The Suez Canal has lately had a good many bombing raids."

Major Stewart said that air activity from Sicily, however, appeared to be very light and convoys were not being given very much air support these days. This evidence seemed to point to a complete withdrawal of all German aircraft from Sicily. The Germans had a strong air force there in January and it now appeared that the Axis was not going to make any move there.

The Germans, of course, had their hands full at the moment and they had to remove part of their air force from Western Europe. The result was that the bulk of the German air force had to be moved to the east.

MAKING PREPARATIONS

"But, however, heavily engaged they may be in one part, the Germans always seem to be making preparations for their next move in another part," said Major Stewart. "That is how I interpret the moves in Sicily now. They appear to think that the help the Italians can give will be sufficient for sending supplies across the Sicilian Channel."

"The German air force is very mobile. It could be moved very quickly down to Sicily and North Africa or back again to Western Europe. Their air force is always the last to move and the first to strike. Bases have to be prepared along new defences, but the operational aircraft only arrive at the last moment. That seems to be the idea now."

"But the Germans don't trust the Italians, so they have left a skeleton force in North Africa and these contain aeroplanes of the latest type. Our Tomahawks have met Messerschmitt 110's recently, and in their raids on the Suez Canal they have been using their latest type of bombers. All this tends to show that they are planning for a winter campaign in North Africa."

LONDON PAPER SENDS
REPORTER TO FAR EAST

(TRIBUNE STAFF REPORTER)

Mr. O. D. Gallagher, accredited war correspondent of the London Daily Express, arrived in Malaya recently to find out for himself how things were shaping in the Far East.

Mr. Gallagher has been "covering" the war in the Middle East for his paper. Incidentally, he has covered four wars for the Daily Express during his short journalistic career, first in Abyssinia, then in Spain (whence he was expelled by Franco), in Palestine, during the Arab revolution, in China, when the Sino-Japanese "incident" commenced, and recently in France and the Middle East.

He is only 30 years old and has spent the last six years "covering" wars for his paper, which, incidentally has more connections with the Malaya Tribune than with any other newspaper in Malaya.

A short while ago, Miss Rosalind Wong, formerly of the Malaya Tribune, was privileged to work as a visiting reporter on the staff of the Daily Express, and "Pop" Wright, Trojan on that paper, has a nephew, Mr. G. S. Hammonds, on the editorial staff of the Malaya Tribune.

Referring to the Middle East, Mr. Gallagher stated that the Luftwaffe was tied up in knots due to its aircraft and personnel not being acclimatised to the tropics. He stated that Nazi and Italian airmen had to put up with temperatures of 120 degrees when flying in low altitudes, and just could not take it.

Speaking about the impending British offensive in the Middle

BRITISH PLANS

Major Stewart declared that the allied plans to meet such a move had deteriorated somewhat owing to the calls made in other parts of the Empire. Australia had to stiffen up her own defences. But Britain's supply lines for air equipment had been much improved.

"President Roosevelt mentioned the other day that arrangements had been made to fly aircraft built in the United States to the Middle East by way of the west coast of Africa," continued Major Stewart.

"For a long time now American machines have been used in the Middle East. The Lockheed-Hudson was the first R.A.F.-manned American aircraft to be used when Italian warships were attacked in November last. In any case, the R.A.F. now uses many American machines, including the Maryland and the Tomahawk. We must make sure that we can get a continual stream of reinforcements for them. The more material that can be sent to us by air the better."

"That is the real situation everywhere. The more we can get sent by air the better. It carries less risk from enemy action and saves shipping space. I see the time when the whole business of freight, dismantling and packing aircraft for shipping will be finished with. It means that without calling on our shipping space we can get supplies over from factories which are out of reach of the enemy. It means that we can send reserves to the Middle East by a route that is relatively safe. That is going to be important in this winter campaign in North Africa."

AIR TRANSPORT

"The Germans have shown great enterprise in their use of their air force," went on Major Stewart. "There was evidence of that in Crete. But the United States and ourselves are now using air transport on a bigger scale for all our main supplies."

"The supply lines of modern armies are vulnerable, but air supply lines are less vulnerable. They cannot be interrupted by bombing. It is because of this increase in air carriage, on a grand scale that the effects of air power are becoming greater."

"So we shall now be able to reinforce our air force in the Middle East by air, not only from here, but also from the United States and constant supplies can be kept up without calling upon for additional shipping space."

In this connexion he stated that there were Glen Martin Maryland medium, fast bombers, Tomahawk fighters, Brewster Buffaloes and Grumman Martlets in addition to British manufactured aircraft in the Middle East. He then stated that every nut, bolt and "tin of bully beef" intended for the Luftwaffe had to arrive through Benghazi, the most bombed port in the world today.

Referring to Tobruk, Mr. Gallagher said that Mr. Winston Churchill's son had been in Tobruk until three weeks ago. Randolph Churchill had led many sallies against the Germans, he said.

Questioned about the Far East situation, he refused to comment, saying that he had come to learn how things were here.

CATHOLIC NEWS &amp; NOTES

PATRON OF TARANTO: BARONETCY &amp; ITS PAST: CONVENT EDUCATION

The Gospel read in tomorrow's Mass is the parable of the Good Samaritan, from the tenth chapter of St. Luke's Gospel. This is one of the best known of all the parables told by Christ, and it is so familiar to all that the term "a good Samaritan" is a common expression in practically all European countries.

It may seem strange that in a small country like Palestine there should have been such a cleavage between Jews and Samaritans, but it was one that had a historical origin and had religious reasons to support it.

When the Kingdom of Israel became separated from that of Judah, the city of Samaria became the capital of the country of Israel. Two hundred years later the Assyrians conquered Israel after a long siege of the city and took the survivors into captivity.

Instead of the Israelites who were taken away colonies of Chaldeans, Syrians, Arabs and others were sent to take their place, and the country, as well as the capital city, became known as Samaria.

The hostility to the Jewish race and religion survived to the time of Christ. This gave the special point to His story about the Good Samaritan.

PATRON OF TARANTO

The city of Taranto, the Italian city which has acquired new fame as a target for air-raids, has an Irish patron saint. St. Peter and St. Mark said the foundation of its Christianity, but afterwards, for want of priests, the people fell away.

An Irish bishop, returning from a pilgrimage to the Holy Land, was shipwrecked and washed ashore near Taranto. He was St. Cathal, a Waterford man, who had studied and taught at Lismore. It is said that he ruled over that famous school for some years after the death of its founder, St. Carthage.

Today his remains lie in a marble tomb in the sacristy of Taranto Cathedral, and from Lombardy to Sicily, churches, children, confraternities and guilds, towns and parishes, bear his name. No and parishes bear his name. No other Irish saint, perhaps not even St. Columban, is more widely venerated in Italy than San Cataldo, second Bishop of Taranto.

BARONETCY &amp; ITS PAST

The recent death of Sir Henry Paston Bedingfield, eighth baronet, has recalled memories of the Catholic past. The late baronet was one of a long Catholic line. His ancestral home at Oxburgh, in Norfolk, has a chapel in which the Blessed Sacrament was reserved during all the penal times, and the whole village is Catholic to the present day.

The head of the Bedingfield family has been a knight since Norman times and a baronet since the Restoration.

When Mary Tudor was Queen a Sir Henry Bedingfield was the Governor of the Tower of London. He was the gaoler to the Princess Elizabeth. Later, as Queen, Elizabeth visited Oxburgh Hall.

The late Sir Henry Bedingfield was educated at Stonyhurst and was a Major in the 3rd King's Liverpool Regiment.

CONVENT EDUCATION

It was one of the daughters of the first Bedingfield baronet who introduced into the rural area of London in 1869 practically the first Catholic high school for young ladies.

This was the first permanent foundation in England of Mary

Ward's Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The first Prioress, sent from the headquarters at Munich, was known as "Mrs." Bedingfield. Her determination quickly paved the way for a long succession of nuns, who held on throughout the penal days, educating the daughters of many Catholic families until 1795, when the work was taken up by English Benedictines expelled from France under the Revolution disorders.

"Mrs." Bedingfield eventually went North as first Prioress of the Bar Convent. This is still flourishing in York, the oldest continuous convent in England, although sixteen years junior to its Southern sister which, however, closed down after 128 years.

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science churches will be "Mind."

The Golden Text will be: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him?" (1st Corinthians 2: 16).

Amongst others the following citations will be read from the Bible: "For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counselor? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen." (Rom. 11: 34, 35).

Amongst others the following citations will also be read from the Christian Science Textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is His own infinite Mind and expresses all. The Scriptures imply that God is all-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. God is Mind and God is infinite, hence all is Mind. On this statement rests the Science of being, and the Principle of this Science is divine, demonstrating harmony and immortality." ## Europe's Culture Now In London

As the war effort in England gathers ever increasing momentum, the cultural life of the nation goes on.

To the questions whether new books are being written and discussed, pictures painted, debates held, new plays put on in the West End of London, there can be but one answer. For what would it avail us if, having won the war, everything for which democratic people are fighting had been completely neglected in the years of struggle—all the world of mind and beauty, of creative thought and free expression.

So it is that a new concerto by a young English composer receives its first performance in London in April, 1941. Bach's Passion Music and the great classical symphonies fill the Queen's Hall time after time.

Notable work is being done by painters. It is seen at the Royal Academy which opens, as usual in May, and in the many individual exhibitions as well as the collection of commissioned war paintings on view at the National Gallery.

LIGHTING THE NEW DARK AGE

London has in a true sense become the centre of European culture. The heart of Europe beats not at the centre but near the perimeter. So was it long ago in the Dark Ages, when the Irish monks kept alight the little flame which was to light civilisation on its way and be a beacon to a pagan continent. In the sixth and seventh centuries it was Irish missionaries who carried Christianity through pagan England to France, Burgundy, the valley of the Rhine and Switzerland to the heathen Bavarians.

Now Britain is shielding that self-same flame. The continent is again in the grip of paganism and longing eyes are turned to the country of free men where the mind is not enchained. Never have refugees of so many nationalities fleeing from oppression found asylum here. Not only from Germany and Austria do they come, but from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France.

The stage has been further enriched by continental talent. Chamber music flourishes not only daily at the National Gallery but at the "Polish Heart." The Czech Trio shows us how Dvorak should be played and no squadron of Czech airmen is without its virtuoso violinist.

Everywhere these gifted foreigners, fighting our common enemy, mingling with our native artists and join in our intellectual life. Professor Worm-Muller, Professor of History and Adviser to the Nobel Institute, leaves Oslo University where only "re-written" history books are in fashion in order to teach us the true meaning of the Nazi occupation, while Dr. Egon Wellesz, the leading European authority on Byzantine music and a refugee from Vienna contributes an important article on the subject to the new edition of that monumental work, Groves Dictionary of Music.

POLISH POETS

Vienna, Prague, Warsaw: golden names vanished glories. From Vienna to these shores has come the highly specialised art of photographic and colour reproduction for which she has long been famous, applied now for the first time to English subjects. Langer, the distinguished Czech playwright, is here. The Poles have brought their poets and their poets are learning English. We remember with gratitude that Conrad was a Pole and wonder if there is another Conrad among those sparse battalions who have fought so gallantly on many fronts?

Their countryman Topolski is here to record their exploits in paint and to trace with never-failing skill and humour the English war-time scene, grave and gay. An Anglo-Polish Ballet season has shown that the Polish national ballet is not dead, a Free Dutch matinee that Dutchmen are not only bilingual, but have brought their talents with them.

Britain, already rich in her own native gifts, has become the repository of a whole continental culture the home of the unfettered national spirit of many nations now groaning under the Nazi yoke. Ever seeking new forms of expression, England herself is reflected in her literature, the most vigorous, the most varied in the world.

GOLD RESERVES OF BANK OF FRANCE

Mystery Surrounds Portion In Dakar

LONDON, Aug. 22 (Reuter).—Where is the Bank of France's gold? asks the Financial News yesterday commenting on the first weekly statement published by the Bank of France since the collapse, showing that the gold reserves of the Bank amount to 84 milliard francs.

This figure does not differ materially from the amount of gold hoarding before the Franco-German armistice. The question is how much of this gold is under the effective control of the Vichy authorities?

As is well known, a large amount was transferred to the United States before the collapse and was frozen by order of the Washington administration. Another substantial amount found its way to Martinique and is kept there.

U.S. — VICHY ACCORD

An agreement was recently reached between the Vichy Government and the United States Government by which the former undertook to consult the latter before moving any gold from Martinique. In return the American authorities agreed to release some of the French gold frozen in the United States for the urgent requirements of the inhabitants of Martinique.

A substantial part of the French gold reserve was evacuated to Dakar. Complete mystery surrounds the fate of this gold.

According to one theory, a French warship transferred it to Martinique, but is more probable that the gold is still at Dakar. One wonders how long it will be before the Vichy Government agree to surrender part of its gold to Germany.

MUNITION WORKERS IN AUSTRALIA

CANBERRA, Aug. 22 (Reuter).—Munition workers in Australia are now estimated at 200,000—Some 50,000 more than the Government expected a year ago.

Announcing this, Mr. P. A. McBride, Minister of Munitions, said that the number employed on the Government pay-roll is expected to be doubled this financial year.

Excluding the Commonwealth Aircraft Corporation and the principal dockyards, Government-owned factories are now employing 56,000 operatives compared with 24,000 a year ago and 11,700 before the war.

A scheme for controlling the price of sweets and chocolates is being worked out by a large section of the trade at the request of the Ministry of Food.

Russia's Big Air Force Is Out Of Date

(BY MAJOR C. C. TURNER, ONE OF BRITAIN'S FOREMOST WRITERS ON AVIATION)

Of the Russian Air Force as a whole, it is probably fair to say that, class by class, the speeds of its aircraft are 50 to 100 m.p.h. less than those of the R.A.F., and that in other respects also it is inferior.

Unless in the past few months new types have been put into production, Stalin's air force has neither fighters nor bombers comparable to four or five British types or, for that matter, to one or two of Germany's best. There is no news of new types in Russia.

Russia's first-line aircraft strength is from 4,000 to 5,000 more than that of Britain or Germany at the beginning of the war, but this means little.

In the present crisis operational strength on the western frontier, the depth of reserves, and the quality of machines and personnel are the important factors.

There is hardly any question that a German advance into Russia, opposed or unopposed, would be into the Ukraine, where Hitler hopes to obtain coal, food, and raw materials of many kinds of which he is in great need. An advance in this direction would also constitute a menace to Iraq and Iran.

There are in these regions important centres of aircraft manufacture and industrial organisation set up in recent years, the most important being Kiev, Odesa, and Sebastopol.

OUTPUT FAR BEHIND

Far to the north-east are Fili, near Moscow, and Gorki (formerly Nijni Novgorod), the two most important Russian aircraft centres. These would in certain contingencies be bombing objectives.

Altogether Russia has 15 important aircraft and four aero-engine works, but production capacity is believed to be no more than 5,000 aircraft and 15,000 engines annually.

It is therefore not a quarter of that of either Britain or Germany; and, owing to shortage of skilled labour and, probably, machinery also, it is not capable of rapid expansion.

Most Russian aircraft design has been borrowed from, or is based upon that of other countries, and Germany had much to do with laying the foundations of the Russian aircraft industry; yet in aeronautical research Russian laboratories have made highly important contributions.

Russia was the first to develop seriously paratroop equipment and organisation and also big troop-carrying gliders. On the civil and scientific side there have been notable exploratory flights over the northern top of the world to America, and much stratosphere exploration.

But the Soviet's incapacity for effective aerial invasion was revealed in the attack against Finland, which confirmed expert opinion that organisation was poor, though she is said to have 100,000 paratroops.

"I say, Hawkins, you might be more careful. You nearly had me over the banisters."

"I'm very sorry, Sir. I had not anticipated your arrival in — or — one full swoop, if I may coin a phrase. In fact, Sir, I didn't know you were up."

"My good man, I've been up since cockcrow. The clocks were striking eight as I sprang from my Spartan box spring mattress."

"Indeed, Sir."

"Yes, Hawkins. Indeed! Indeed! Indeed! I suppose you think I ought to have a roaring headache and a taste in my mouth like cold dinner knives?"

"Well, Sir, now that you press me, you were out rather late last night."

"Of course I was. Didn't get back till three. But I drank nothing but 'Gimlets.' And now I'm feeling as fit as one of those culinary wine-skins."

"Triest, Sir. I'm not surprised, Sir. Rose's Lime Juice possesses therapeutic properties which..."

"Confound you, Hawkins. You know all the answers!"

BERNHARD WITH DUTCH PILOTS R.A.F. Thanked For Training Facilities

LONDON, Aug. 22 (Reuter).—Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands visited a Royal Air Force aerodrome on Wednesday where Dutch fighter pilots are in training. The Prince arriving in his own plane which he was piloting.

He took off as leader of a training formation of nine machines, all piloted by Dutch flyers. On landing the Prince said to his compatriots: "I am proud that thanks to the co-operation of the R.A.F. we are now able to train Dutchmen as fighter pilots here in England so that shortly we may have many Dutch squadrons in action with the R.A.F."

"These squadrons will fly Spitfires presented by the Netherlands East Indies."

"I am grateful for the excellent training the R.A.F. has given me and I have no doubt that you will all appreciate the facilities given you by Great Britain. I wish you all the best of luck during and after your training."

COMBINED ASSAULT ON AXIS URGED

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (Reuter).—A call for President Roosevelt to propose and Congress to approve a declaration of war against the Axis nations is made in the New Republic, one of America's foremost liberal weeklies.

There is a chance, the magazine says, of "immediate and complete" victory over Hitler if the United States, Russia and Britain launch a combined assault. America, it asserts, is better prepared to fight Germany now with allies than later with none.

"If it is not our war we should have nothing to do with it. But we have decided otherwise. If it is our war, enough so that we must put our material wealth into the scales on one side only, then it is our war to fight as well."

BLENHEIMS BLITZ STEEL IRON WORKS IN HOLLAND

LONDON, Aug. 22 (Reuter).—Blenheims of the Bomber Command, escorted by fighters, bombed iron and steel works at IJmuiden in Holland and railways and industrial targets in Northern France yesterday.

Coastal Command aircraft with a fighter escort attacked enemy shipping off the French coast in a daylight sweep.

Blenheim aircraft of the Bomber Command have carried out three attacks on enemy occupied territory yesterday, states an Air Ministry communique. In each of them they were escorted by strong forces of fighters and no bombers were lost.

Attacks were made on the iron and steel works at IJmuiden, in Holland, where direct hits were obtained on rolling mills and other parts of the works.

INDUSTRIAL TARGETS

In two offensives carried out over northern France, industrial targets and railways communications in the St. Omer and Bethune areas were bombed.

The fighter escort fought a number of engagements with enemy fighters, one of which was destroyed.

E-boats in the Channel were attacked by our fighters with cannon and machine-gun fire.

Fourteen of our fighters are missing, but one of the pilots is safe.

Other fighters escorted aircraft of the Coastal Command in an attack on enemy shipping off the French coast. No aircraft were lost in this operation.

Of 84 prosecutions of landlords for charging exorbitant rents since the Minister of Health's appeal to local authorities to take proceedings, without hesitation, 40 have been successful, and fines up to £20 imposed.

CHINA SEEKS TO REVIVE SILK TRADE

CHUNGKING, Aug. 22 (Central).—A possible shortage of raw silk in the United States has revived the hopes of Chinese silk-producers who, despite the war, have been trying to improve and increase silk production and find means to export it.

The Foreign Trade Commission spent $1,700,000 for the latter half of last year and earlier half of this year for the improvement of Szechwan silk and for stimulation its production. The Women's Advisory Committee of the New Life Movement under the direction of Madame Chiang Kai-shek maintains experimental stations in west Szechwan cities to introduce new methods of raising silkworms and controlling diseases. Other institutions too joined the silk production campaign.

Before the war, China's silk export went to Hongkong (for transshipment), the United States, France, Italy and the South Seas. Since the war, most of Chinese silk goes to the United States, France, India, Burma and England. A portion of it goes to Japan from Shanghai where the Japanese have control over the markets in the "occupied" areas.

In the last few years the National Government has been promoting sericulture in the South-west, especially Szechwan, and Yunnan and silk has been exported over the Burma Road.

FREE CHINA EXPECTS A GOOD HARVEST

The outlook of China's crops this year is good, judging from reports from various provinces.

A survey reveals that the crops in only 12 of 148 hsien in Szechwan are below normal while those in the other hsien are expected to yield a harvest better than last year's.

After the payment of land tax in kind to the Government, the farmers will have left produce slightly more than last year.

Szechwan will have particularly good crops of kaoliang and sweet potatoes. If there are no violent storms between now and harvest time, Szechwan will have a 15 per cent better crop than last year.

Kweichow's crops are about the same as Szechwan. With the exception of the western part of the province crops in Hunan are excellent, particularly in the Tungting Lake districts which are important rice-producing regions.

Other provinces south of the Yangtze River, including Kiangsi, Fukien, Kwangtung and Kwangsi, also expect better crops this year. However, the wheat crop in Kansu, and Siam are estimated to be only about 80 per cent of the normal.—(Central News)

OIL PRODUCTION
CONTROLLED

American oil production was drastically controlled at present, but it necessary untold quantities could be taken from the fields, said Mr. Leo Ranney, American oil expert, in Australia.

With Mr. Charles Fairbank, another American oil expert, Mr. Ranney has come to Australia at the invitation of the Commonwealth Government to investigate the potentialities of the Lakes Entrance oilfields.

American production was curtailed to 3,800,000 barrels a day to prevent over-production, he said.

Transport of oil by tankers and not production represented the biggest problem at present.

Immediately after a civic reception at the Town Hall, Messrs. Ranney and Fairbank left Melbourne for Lakes Entrance.

At Lakes Entrance 160,000 gallons of oil had been obtained, said Mr. T. Watson (M.H.R., Gippsland). Of this, 40 per cent. was diesel fuel, 40 per cent. lubricating oil and 10 per cent. bitumen, for which there was a ready sale.

RADIO RIGHTS CLAIMED

SPORT BROADCASTS WITHOUT PERMIT

Suggestions that sporting bodies should have a right to prevent commercial broadcasting stations from describing their programmes were vigorously opposed by Mr. R. Dooley, secretary of the Australian Commercial Broadcasting Federation, in evidence to the Federal Parliamentary committee inquiring into broadcasting.

Mr. Calwell, M.H.R., asked if it would be regarded as stealing to take the right of broadcasting by erecting a tower overlooking a sports arena, contrary to the wishes of a sporting body. Mr. Dooley replied that commercial stations would probably be willing to pay for the right of broadcast from within the enclosure, but had the assurance of a Privy Council ruling that broadcasting without permission was not illegal.

Mr. Dooley said many sporting bodies discriminated against commercial stations, possibly unwittingly, because sole rights to broadcast were bought by the Australian Broadcasting Commission. He believed football and cricket bodies using the M.C.G. would favor commercial broadcasting, but the trustees objected to advertising interspersed in the descriptions.

Mr. Dooley did not think the A.B.C. crowded out commercial stations and thought it would share broadcasting rights.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

He claimed commercial stations provided an educational service, instancing 3DB's Heckle Hour as one of the best educational features on the air.

Refuting a suggestion that commercial stations retarded the establishment of national regional stations, Mr. Dooley said the greatest expansion of commercial broadcasting was during the depression, when money could not have been devoted to national stations. Between 1931 and 1935 500,000 additional listeners were served by 48 new commercial stations and only three additional national stations.

In 1931 £3321 was paid by commercial stations for performing rights, which figure rose to £30,081 in 1940.

Axis Troops On Move In S. Bulgaria

ANKARA, Aug. 22 (Reuter).—Reports from a very reliable source give the first indications since the Nazi invasion of Soviet Russia of Axis troop movements in southern Bulgaria.

In addition, Italian troops at Plovdiv, with Italian Staff Officers, are reported to have made a reconnaissance of the Maritza Valley.

Other reports speak of Italy increasing her garrisons in Greek islands.

Despite the possibility of such troop movements being the prelude to fresh Axis adventures in the Balkans, Turkey expresses complete confidence that Germany has no hostile intentions towards her.

CAIRO, Aug. 22 (Reuter).—A Ministry of Interior communique, announcing an air raid on Alexandria last night, states that bombs were dropped, causing three killed, six injured and slight damage.

S.M.C. Tightens Press Censorship

The Shanghai Municipal Council has tightened censorship over foreign-owned Chinese newspapers.

A circular was issued to all such newspapers prohibiting the publication of anything of an "anti-Japanese" nature. Even translation of such articles from papers in foreign languages are not allowed.

Any news regarding Japan or speeches, statements and communications of a political nature which are translated from papers in foreign languages must be submitted to the censors before publication.

In addition to such words as "enemy" and "bogus" which are banned by a previous circular, others that tend to reflect upon Japanese prestige, such as "trait", "wanton bombing", "war-weariness of Japanese soldiers" and "aggression" are also prohibited.

News concerning comfort of troops, donations of funds to the State and purchase of war bonds by the Chinese as well as statistics of Japanese casualties are not allowed to be published. (Central News).

HITLER 'INSANITY'

Boy Said Voice Told Him To Kill

It was said by a doctor that two boys who pleaded guilty at the Old Bailey to attempted murder charges seemed to be suffering from what might be termed "Hitlerian Insanity."

Both regarded themselves as pro-Nazi and great admirers of Hitler.

Mr. Justice Asquith directed that the youths, George Henry Bister, 15, and James Charles Kimber, 16, be detained for three years under a section of the Children and Young Persons Act, which enables the Home Secretary to review a case from time to time, says the News of the World.

The charges related to another boy, Ernest Vivian Lipscombe, at an approved school at Redhill, Surrey.

Bister and Kimber were alleged to have taken knives from the school dining-room and ground them to make daggers.

Mr. Stuart Horner, prosecuting, stated that, on March 23, when Lipscombe was in the garden, Bister whipped out a knife and struck him in the neck and back.

Kimber was alleged to have said in a statement:

"Bister sent a town boy to a chemist's shop to get some chloride of potash. We had previously arranged to kill a number of boys in the dormitory with our daggers."

"The potash was to fire a haystack and distract attention. When the boy brought the chloride he delivered it to a master."

"BEYOND CONTROL"

"Bister said to me, 'I cannot stand being humiliated by all these boys. The only thing to do is to kill one, and make a dash for it.'"

"I saw Lipscombe in the garden. I had only just got my knife out, or I would have finished it off. I buried my knife under a tree."

Bister was alleged to have said, after seeing Kimber's statement: "It is accurate as far as it goes. We intended burning the house to destroy any bodies of boys we might have killed or injured."

It was stated that Bister had been sent to the approved school for three years for theft, and Kimber, who had been to a famous West of England public school, had been found beyond the control of his parents.

Dr. Rossiter Lewis declared he thought Bister was suffering from delusional insanity, though he knew what he was doing and was perfectly fit to plead.

Kimber, he believed, was a psychopathic personality. The case was one in which a person who was insane so influenced another that they both committed the same kind of thing.

The important feature was that Bister suffered from a delusion that everything he did was carried out as a result of being told what to do by a voice.

On occasions he described how it had spoken to him from horses in the street, or trees in the woods, but sometimes from people standing near him. There was no doubt "it" was responsible for the attempted murder.

Bister boasted of having hidden arms and ammunition in some woods, and added: "The voice commanded me to give you this information. I am commanded to kill you and then take my own life. The voice must be obeyed when it commands."

NEW POWER NEEDED

MANDATE MAY BE SOUGHT

CANBERRA. — Hints that the Federal Government may conduct a whirlwind Federal election on the issue of industrial peace have been revived by repeated stoppages in the coal industry in New South Wales and the threat of a one-day general strike in Sydney recently as a protest against the Government's refusal to liberate the interned hunger strikers, Thomas and Ratliff.

Continued industrial sabotage of the war effort by left-wing members of the New South Wales Labour movement is viewed apprehensively by leaders of the Federal Labour Party.

They believe stoppages of war work by short strikes would give the Federal Government a water-tight issue on which to hold an election and are convinced this course will be decided on if the trouble in New South Wales continues.

Strong influences are therefore at work to cancel the move for a one-day strike next week. These influences may prevent a general stoppage, but a fairly widespread interruption of industry is likely.

REASONS FOR ELECTION

Federal Ministers in Canberra believe the industrial situation may soon lead to an election. They say the Ministry lacks the majority necessary to implement legislation to outlaw strikes, forecast by the Prime Minister (Mr. Menzies) several weeks ago.

The logical move of the Government, they contend, would be to seek power to deal with strikes constitutionally by holding an election on the strike issue. They are convinced that the nation would give an overwhelming mandate to ensure a continuity of war supplies.

The Minister for Supply (Senator McLeay) revealed that seven colliers with an aggregate capacity of 24,000 tons, going to Newcastle to load, had been diverted because stoppages on the coalfields caused temporary shortage of supplies.

Senator McLeay said a situation had been reached on the coalfields which made it imperative that extremists should be dealt with drastically to prevent sabotaging of the war effort.

VICE-ADMIRAL HOPEFUL OF SEA VICTORIES

The Russo-German war would have little direct effect on Britain's war at sea said Vice-Admiral Sir Guy Royle, new First Member of the Australian Naval Board, who arrived in Melbourne from Sydney recently.

There were interesting aspects of naval strategy in the situation, he said. Provided the land forces held out, there should be no great difficulty in maintaining open Russian Arctic ports like Archangel.

It was unlikely that the Germans had sufficient naval forces available to cut Russia's only direct line of communication by sea with Great Britain.

"It was very much to be hoped, however, that Russia had really strong forces of submarines in the Black Sea. A strong submarine force would prevent Hitler making full use of any oil he might win by victories in Asia Minor or the Caucasus.

Sir Guy Royle's only comment on the American occupation of Iceland was that any move which tended to relieve the pressure of duties on the British forces was welcome.

The Navy hoped before long to form hunting groups which would seek out and destroy submarines wherever they were known to be. At present the Navy had mostly to wait until the submarines came at the bait of a convoy.

The new First Member said that he brought a special message to Australia from the Admiralty and the First Lord (Mr. A. V. Alexander). Mr. Alexander had expressed personally his gratitude and appreciation to the loyal and generous co-operation of the fine ships of the Royal Australian Navy.

The Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean (Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham) had expressed his admiration for the R.A.N. in glowing terms and shown it in more practical form by asking that they should be allowed to man some of Britain's very latest destroyers.
